One day Susan and her mum shopped for groceries and ate peas  at his favourite restaurant. Then her mum said, 'Oh yes, we need to stop off at the doctor's office for a quick check-up.' Lying on the bed, Susan stayed still for the check-up. Then the doctor explained that Susan would get an injection on her shoulder to protect her from flu, but Susan did not like injections.

Susan got out of the bed and walked towards the doctor's desk. She was scared so she closed her eyes and dreamed that she passed through the wildest seas, climbed up volcanoes filled with fiery lava, and sneaked past terrible creatures, until she heard a voice. 'It's all done,' the doctor said.
